Montpellier International Staff Week

Early October 2019, YEBO! Project members took part in the Staff Week hosted by the University of Montpellier, dedicated to the internationalisation of higher education.

The aim of the week was to highlight the international strategy of the different institutions represented and to generate links and exchanges of ideas and good practices. The agenda was built towards that goal with presentations, collective intelligence trainings, work sessions but also social events for networking and conviviality.

There was 50 participants from 7 countries, all being part of a HEI and partnering with the UM within the framework of a project related to internationalisation like YEBO!

Training 4: Research Visibility & Capacity

The Cape Peninsula University of Technology and the University of Western Cape co-hosted a YEBO training with more than 50 PhD students and 20 trainers to “Strengthen research visibility and capacity of PhD candidates”.

To better prepare 50 SA PhD candidates in improving their capacity to conduct research at an international level, the workshop focused on 4 main themes: 1) writing a (mobility / research) grant proposal; 2) research ethics and integrity; 3) publishing internationally & pitching your research; 4) visibility of research & the researchers (e.g. broader impact, social media, career development). The students who attended the training will contribute to the YEBO final Conference in September, showcasing the new competencies acquired in terms of research communication.
